2,879,000 Individuals Would Pay New or More Taxes Under New Plan

Authorities Also Estimate $18,176,000,000 of Income Would Be Taxable, Assuming Complete Distribution of All Earnings.

HOME LOAN BILL

Measure To Extend Temporarily Home Administration Loan Program of House Act.

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Figures showing that 2,879,000 individuals would pay new or additional taxes should corporations—faced with a proposed tax on their undistributed income—distribute all earnings among stockholders were submitted by treasury authorities today to a House ways and means subcommittee.

On the assumption of complete distribution of all corporate earnings, the treasury estimated that $18,176,000,000 of income would be taxable.

Chairman Samuel B. Hill (D., Wash.) said today's discussions were confined to President Roosevelt's suggested corporate earnings levy. The treasury was asked to submit tables covering lower rates on a portion of net undistributed corporate income that would enable corporations to build up reserves.

He said possibly the committee would base the proposed new levy on percentages of income held back from dividends rather than on actual amounts of corporate earnings not distributed among stockholders.

The treasury's table showed that an estimated 2,687,768 persons taxable under the present law would be affected by the proposed new law. In addition 191,302 individuals not now taxed, or who would move into higher income tax brackets, likewise would be paying under the new plan.

The treasury estimated total corporate net income for 1936 at $8,308,000,000 and the number of tax returns on such income at 257,586. Net corporate income in the bracket under $1,000, was placed at $32,000,000 and ranged up to $3,330,000,000 in the bracket of $5,000,000 and up.

An administration bill extending the temporary home modernization loan program of the housing act but cutting in half the amount of insurance the government will provide on such loans was introduced today in senate and house.

Offered by Chairman Fletcher (D., Fla.) and Steagall (D., Fla.) of the banking committee, the measure would extend the authority for insuring private five-year loans up to $20,000 for residences and up to $50,000 for business properties, from April 1 to December 31, 1936.

Maximum insurance liability of the housing administration would be reduced from $200,000,000 to $100,000,000, and the government insurance in individual cases cut from 20 per cent to 10 per cent.

The bill provides that the insured private residence repair and modernization loans of $2,000 or less, could be made only for financing alterations upon improved real property by the owners, or by lessees who have leases expiring not more than six months after the loan maturity.

This would eliminate insurance on loans for household equipment which does not become a permanent part of the property, such as refrigerators, washers, irons and similar equipment not built in. Wiring, heating, and plumbing system repairs, however, would be eligible for insured loans.

Negro Held on Charge Of Stabbing Another Negro With a Knife

Ernest Terrell Accused of Stabbing Daniel Rankin, Waived Examination and Is Held for Grand Jury—Rankin Is in Kingston Hospital Badly Cut.

Ernest Terrell, 45, a negro of North street, waived examination in police court this morning and was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of second degree assault in stabbing Daniel Rankin, another negro, with a knife. Rankin is in the Kingston Hospital, badly slashed, police say.

From the story as gathered by the police the alleged cutting occurred on North street late Saturday night. Terrell and Maggie Bassett, a negro, were walking along North street, and according to Terrell's story Rankin came out of a house and struck Maggie. Terrell said he told Rankin to stop hitting the woman and that Rankin said he would fix him and went into the house and emerged later with an axe. Terrell said that when Rankin came for him with an axe he used his knife on Rankin.

The police who had been notified sent Officers Fallon and Schoonmaker with a radio car to the scene and they placed Terrell under arrest, while Rankin was removed to the hospital. The officers also arrested Maggie, who was charged with public intoxication. This morning Maggie pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Midwestern Postmaster

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Postmaster General Farley announced today appointment of the following acting postmasters: Fred H. Shoenberg, Middletown, N. Y.

New York, March 9 (AP)—Following a conference with Mayor LaGuardia, James J. Bambrick, strike leader, abruptly reversed battle plans today, withholding orders for a walkout of building workers in Manhattan's Grand Central area, Brooklyn and Queens.

Shortly before he talked it over with the mayor, Bambrick announced that because of the conditional acceptance by realty operators of Mayor LaGuardia's peace plans the union would "fight to the bitter end and hurl its entire force today."

Later, he said no extension of the walkout would be ordered pending the outcome of peace negotiations.

The board agreed yesterday to submit, "with minor modifications and some additions," to Mayor LaGuardia's proposals for terminating the walkout.

The union leaders accepted them "unconditionally." Bambrick said, "will be our biggest blow of the strike."

A strike call for 25,000 workers in 4,000 buildings of the Grand Central area, hitherto barely affected, was the focal point, the union president said.

Police estimated 2,016 buildings have been affected and recorded 815 buildings whose operators had agreed to union demands for closed shop, $2 a week pay increase and shorter working hours.

Mayor LaGuardia, working for a full week to break the deadlock, proposed:

1. Arbitration of wages, hours, conditions and duration of contract.
2. All employees to return to work on selection of an arbitrator, such selection to be made in 24 hours.
3. No discrimination against union employees.
4. Vacancies in jobs held by union men to be filled by union men.
5. No interference by employers with union memberships.
6. Establishment of a permanent arbitration board.

The closed shop question has been the crux of the deadlock, but operators professed to see in the union's "unconditional" acceptance of point 4 a "preferential" shop the end of the union's closed shop demand.

Police made only four arrests and those for minor offenses. While Mayor LaGuardia called representatives of both sides into conference, convinced by their acceptance that only minor details remained to be ironed out, another building service union was called on strike.

More than 5,000 waiters and bartenders in hotels will be affected. Aladar Repak, organizer of the Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union, said, unless negotiations halt the spread of the walkout.

HOFFMAN MAY FIND MORE TROUBLE ON HIS HANDS

Trenton, N. J., March 9 (AP)—While Governor Harold G. Hoffman's inquiry into the Lindbergh baby kidnap-plot continued today, there was a distinct possibility his activities in the case would be subjected to disapproval in the New Jersey Assembly.

One of the first matters expected to come up before the Assembly, when the Legislature convenes tonight is a resolution offered by Republican Assemblyman Basil Brunson investigating of the motor vehicle department.

Brunson charges the governor has turned the department into a "detective agency," expending taxpayers' funds without authorization, to look into the crime.

Hirota Forms Cabinet, Belgium Joins France Gets Support of Both Army and Navy Groups

Son of a Stone Mason Becomes Strong Man of Japan as He Gets Sufficient Support to Form Cabinet After Rebellion.

Tokyo, March 9 (AP)—Koki Hirota, the son of a stone mason who rose to an outstanding role on the world stage, completed today formation of a cabinet to replace the ministry of Premier Katsuko Okada, broken by the Japanese military rebellion and assassinations.

The Hirota cabinet was ceremonially installed in the presence of Emperor Hirohito tonight in the Phoenix hall of the imperial palace.

The personnel and program of the new cabinet represented a hard-driven bargain between Hirota and Japan's militarists for a "positive, independent readjustment of foreign relations."

Generals and admirals pledged themselves to enforcement of army discipline and reforms in military education designed to eradicate the direct actionist ideas which lay behind the February 26 assassinations of four leaders by rebellious soldiers.

The cabinet was a national one in the sense that it was supported by the army and navy and included representatives of both major parties, the comparatively liberal Minseito, which supported Okada, and the Seiyukai, which opposed the former government.

Hirota himself undertook double duties as premier and foreign minister.

Keenokuke's ship, former vice minister for home affairs, also assumed two portfolios, those of home affairs and education.

Other ministers named were: War—Count Juichi Terauchi, Navy—Admiral Osami Nagano, Finance—Eiichi Baba, Justice—Raisaburo Hayashi, chief justice of supreme court, Justice—Toshio Shimada, Agriculture and forestry—Toshio Shimada, Commerce and industry—Takao Kikawa, Communications—Kikichi Tanomori, Railways—Yonezo Maeda, Colonies—Hideo Naito, former mayor of Tokyo.

Berlin—Enthusiastic celebration of Adolf Hitler's Reichstag address was brought to a close as the Reichsfuehrer's popularity rose to new heights.

In the Rhineland—German troops estimated at approximately 15,000 occupied their positions as French soldiers moved into the steel and concrete defense line along the frontier. Fear of border incidents heightened apprehension of danger in the rearmored zone.

Brussels—Belgium joined with France in a League protest against the German move requesting quick consideration of the international problem by the League council.

Geneva—League officials called a council meeting for Friday, inviting Belgium, not a member of the council, and Germany, not a member of the League, to sit in on the discussion.

London—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons he believed the German action does not carry "a threat of hostilities," but that any attack on France or Belgium would force Great Britain to aid it. Anglo-German navy parity resumed.

Rome—With the attention of Europe turned to the Rhineland, Italy ordered cessation—at least temporarily—of hostilities in Ethiopia.

Eden Takes Stand

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press). London, March 9—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden warned Germany today that any attack on France or Belgium in violation of the Locarno treaty would force Great Britain to go to the assistance of those two nations.

At the same time, he told the House of Commons that he was thankful to say there was no reason to suppose that "the present German action implies a threat of hostilities."

The House of Commons was packed to the doors to hear Eden expound the British position in this moment when Germany has violated the Locarno pact by throwing troops into the "demilitarized" Rhineland and France has retaliated with the warning of her fortifications along the frontier.

Every important embassy accredited to London was present in the diplomatic gallery. Ray Atherton, counselor of embassy, represented the United States. Norman H. Davis, the United States ambassador-at-large, also listened to Eden's address.

Eden said he had protested directly to Ambassador Hoesch against Germany's reoccupation of the Rhineland and that he had stated the effect on British public opinion would be deleterious.

"I told the ambassador," said Eden, "that I deeply regretted he had given me no indication about the action the German government was taking in respect to the demilitarized zone and I stated that it amounted to a unilateral repudiation of a treaty freely negotiated and freely signed."

The minister told the legislators that the course taken by the German government "complicates and aggravates the international situation."

Confidence Shaken

"The abrogation of the Locarno pact and the occupation of the demilitarized zone," declared Eden, "have profoundly shaken confidence in any engagement in which the Locarno pact was a factor."

German Lawyer Is Convicted as Spy

London, March 9 (AP)—Dr. Hermann Goetz, German lawyer, was found guilty by a jury today of violating the official secrets act by making a sketch of an army flying field. He was sentenced to four years in prison.

The jury deliberated only briefly, after listening to an appeal in defense counsel Heinrich Gross-Johnson to keep "our heads cool" in deciding the case.

The jury declared the German attorney was guilty of two counts after he had examined one of Goetz's sketches in which he described German military equipment in detail. The jury also found that Goetz had been in contact with a German spy in London.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Funeral Today for Rev. J. F. Prendergast

A solemn high Mass of requiem was offered this morning in St. John's Church, Beacon, for the Rev. James F. Prendergast, pastor of the Beacon church, who died on Friday in St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie. Father Prendergast was well known in this city, having been pastor of the Wilbur and Eddyville churches before his pastorate in Beacon.

A priest for 40 years he had served only four parishes in all that time, so strongly did the members of his successive parishes seek to retain him as their spiritual leader.

Born in County Tipperary, Ireland, on December 27, 1869, he began his studies for the priesthood at All Hallows' College in Dublin. Later he went to Louvain, Belgium, where he completed his training and in 1897 was ordained. Immediately after his ordination he came to America and became assistant pastor at the Port Jervis church. From Port Jervis he was transferred to St. Cecilia's Parish in New York city. In 1908 he was promoted to serve as pastor of the Holy Name Church in Wilbur and of the Sacred Heart Church in Eddyville. On November 23, 1919, he assumed his pastorate at St. John's Church in Beacon.

While in Beacon he was responsible for numerous improvements to the church, adding to the church property and greatly decreasing the church debt.

Father Prendergast is survived by two brothers, one of whom is an official in the Irish Free State, three sisters, all of whom are nuns, two in Glasgow, Scotland, and the other in England.

Tell of Plan to Kidnap Dempsey's Daughter

Atlantic City, N. J., March 9 (AP)—Officers investigated today an anonymous "tip" purporting to disclose a plot to kidnap Jack Dempsey's 19-month-old daughter, Joan Hannah.

Whether the "tip" was accurate, the officers were unprepared to say. James Farley, acting captain of detectives, asserted, "It is probably the work of a crank."

The child, however, was placed under guard at a hotel where she is staying with her mother. Farley said that "rumors to the effect" that Dempsey and a friend had received post cards from an anonymous writer warning of a kidnapping plot against Joan were being investigated.

"As far as we've been able to find out," Farley added, "there's nothing to the report. It is probably the work of a crank." While Farley was reluctant to discuss the case further, he said he had heard "rumors" that Federal men were investigating. From other sources it was learned that two Department of Justice agents had been sent to this city at the instance of local police.

Mrs. Dempsey, the former Hannah Williams, Broadway showgirl, and Joan have been at the hotel since Friday. Dempsey, it was learned, has established temporary residence here for the duration of the service employers' strike in New York. Captain Farley indicated that police reticence in the matter was motivated largely by a desire to avoid alarming Mrs. Dempsey, who is an expectant mother.

It was learned that Dempsey received the post card in New York, warning him that the writer had overheard "two Polish gentlemen" planning to kidnap Joan. A card bearing a similar warning was received by a friend of Dempsey here. The cards bore Atlantic City postmarks.

The estimated cost involved in the plans was $606,440, and included $390,430 for 17 factories, $189,210 for 32 mercantile establishments and $26,800 for three places of public assembly.

Seneca Falls, N. Y., March 9 (AP)—Henry W. Johnson, last Civil war veteran here, died last night. He was 92. Johnson was one of five brothers who served in the Union army. He drove a mail stage coach in St. Lawrence county in the days before railroad service became general.

Albany, N. Y., March 9 (AP)—The New York state department of agriculture estimates this year's maple syrup and sugar harvest, which was begun, will be worth $1,600,000. The Empire state's yield last year was second in the nation. St. Lawrence, Delaware, Chautauque and Cattaraugus counties lead the state in production, agriculture department records show.

Hudson, N. Y., March 9 (AP)—Trains were back on regular schedule here today after the derailment of a freight train in the New York Central yards yesterday which caused several delays and rerouting of numerous trains. No one was injured as 20 cars on a westbound freight piled up because, railroad officials said, of a spreading rail.

Albany, N. Y., March 9 (AP)—There have been 2,433 new stock companies incorporated in New York state this year, the monthly report of Secretary of State, Edward J. Flynn shows. Of the total, 1,536 were incorporated in February, when 808 firms were capitalized for $22,046, 935 and 728 issued stock of no par value.

LOWER RAIL FARE.

Next to the streamlining that is transforming railroad trains, the most striking thing that has happened in the railroad business for many years is the drastic reduction of passenger rates in the eastern territory. The basic fare is cut from 3.6 to 2 cents a mile, and Pullman fare is cut one-fourth. This action by the Interstate Commerce Commission can hardly be regarded either as vindictiveness against the railroads or as blind experiment. It comes after long and careful inquiry by the Commission and the voluntary experiments of railroads in the west and south. These lines have reported almost without exception that the fare reductions bring increased patronage more than justifying them. There is an obvious expectation that the result will be the same in the more populous eastern area.

It is pleasant news to the public, at any rate. Passenger fares, when this order becomes effective in June, will be back to pre-war levels, and in harmony with widespread demands for a deflation of the costs of living comparable with the deflation of incomes. The automotive industry may not like it so well, if rail travel becomes popular again. In reasonably prosperous times, however, there should be plenty of patronage for both types of transportation.

CULTURAL INDIGESTION.

In an address in Chicago the other day, Frank Lloyd Wright, American architect and art critic, made some vigorous remarks about culture in the United States. We suffer from these things, he said:

Too much education—mostly the stale kind in the wrong places.
 Too much money—most of it in the wrong places.
 Too much food—most of that in the wrong places at the moment.
 Too much machinery—the right kind in wrong.
 Too much science—even in the right places.
 Too much salesmanship or mechanical artifice in the name of art.

No indigenous art, because of too little concern for the present or future of human sensibility.

It sounds rather hopeless, particularly when he sums it up as a "fat and gaseous aggregation." It is possible, however, that Mr. Wright exaggerated in order to impress his audience. The nation may have some cultural indigestion, but there is evidence that there is increasing appreciation of good and beautiful things. There is new realization of the importance of mental and moral training and a new distrust of over-emphasis on material success.

NAZISM TURNS ELEGANT.

There have been various signs lately that Nazism is slipping. The most convincing is the revival of the dress suit in Berlin. The "racial comrade" is now allowed, and even expected, to risk himself out in a white tie and swallowtail for social occasions in the evening. The trooper's khaki and the sailor's blue are no longer de rigueur. Field boots, well oiled, need no longer be worn in ballrooms. It is a duty for Nazis to disregard their preferences, explains Dr. Paul Goebbels, and don the uniform of gentlemen of the world, no matter how it hurts.

A follower of Der Fuehrer is not lowered by such behavior. The heart that beats beneath a boiled shirt may be as pure and noble as the heart inside the laborer's blouse. That isn't all. German women are now permitted to emerge from the kitchen and go about dressed in silk, when they can afford it, and to smoke and use rouge and lipstick. And champagne is said to be displacing Blauwe wine and beer. Surely no good can come of all this.

GULF STREAM LABORATORY.

It is easy to entice zoology students at the University of Miami. Their class room is a broad-decked boat. Their laboratory is the floor of the Gulf Stream. The class room moves about for different seasons. When a site is selected, the students are divided into squads. Each squad has a pumper, line assistant and helmet man or woman who is the diver.

Wearing a 100-pound helmet of the type used by William Beebe in his sea-bottom explorations, the student goes down 20 to 40 feet below the surface and observes the marine life of the region. Living specimens are taken up to the boat, where students and professor examine them promptly on deck. College was never like that in our day. If zoology isn't a popular study at the University of Miami we'll be forced to conclude that students today don't appreciate their advantages.

WILD LIFE VALUE.

Our wild creatures in this country are usually regarded merely as something interesting and sentimental, or as something for sportsmen to kill, or something for nature-lovers and scientists to observe. But there is real economic value in it. A national resources report, based on studies by the Bureau of Biological Survey and the Forest Service, estimates that value at $1,000,000,000.

The annual production of furs and meats alone is worth nearly $200,000,000. Then there is the large and profitable business in hunting and fishing equipment. Also the profits reaped from sportsmen and tourists and the "incalculable value" of the birds eating destructive insects. Some countries in the Old World have almost entirely destroyed their wild life, and thereby impoverished themselves.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Burton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
 ACNE-PIMPLES.

Notwithstanding all the different kinds of treatment used in cases of pimples—acne—there are many cases so stubborn that treatment of any kind fails to effect a cure.

As pimples, in most cases, make their appearance as boys and girls are emerging into manhood and womanhood, it has quite reasonably been thought that the gland system of the body has something to do with causing pimples. There are, of course, many cases occurring before this time, at the ages of 8 to 12.

However, the fact that treatment to the pimples themselves—X-ray, electrolysis and various ointments—has proven helpful would show that the treatment must be internal and external. Many cases have been cured, many greatly helped, with a few receiving no benefit, by the use of viosterol. The treatment is 10 drops daily, gradually increasing the dose until at the end of two weeks 20 drops are being taken daily; the 20 drops daily being continued for two more weeks. This means a four weeks' treatment in all.

Dr. D. J. Wilson in the Nebraska State Medical Journal tells us that in acne the diet must be controlled: no pastry, candies, chocolate, sundae, jams, jellies, preserves, pork or gravies is permitted. Only a small amount of white and rye bread, buttermilk, potatoes, macaroni, cheese and nuts may be taken. Constipation must be corrected and for this usually three glasses of water before breakfast should be taken. If a laxative is absolutely necessary fluid extract of cascara or mineral oil may be used.

It is agreed that if the comedones or blackheads are removed, there will be no pus formation later, but blackheads should be removed with slight pressure. Rather than use hard pressure it is advisable to wait two or three days when the blackheads can be removed with gentle pressure, using the little instrument, sold in drug stores, for this purpose. Large pimples containing pus should be drained by the physician using a small sharp blade making a clean cut.

Unfortunately most physicians are not equipped to give X-ray treatment as "it is considered by far the most valuable single method for the treatment of acne."

Golden Rain

by Margaret Childs

SYNOPSIS: Most unexpectedly Morgan Black, who has been very much interested in 19-year-old Iris Lanning, with her precise speech and her old-fashioned clothes. When he finally leaves her he does not know that she is the niece of the Ellis Lanning who will be happy to take him for a boarder to better the fading Lanning fortune. Iris herself is in a position as the daughter of a wealthy old man, and all she can do is to make parties go with her "parlor tricks."

Chapter Three SURPRISE

BUT Iris' "parlor tricks" were better than she knew. Miss Ella had unwearily passed on to her niece everything that in her own more accomplished and literate, as money could buy or art suggest for the brilliant young Ella Lanning, who had intended to be a singer.

Iris' unmodern education comprised fluent French and Italian, the ability to play well the yellow-keyed old family piano, and a singing voice upon which Miss Ella had lavished all she knew of her own "voice culture" of a good though old-fashioned school.

"You'll need accomplishments,"

"Just as sure as it is half past eight."

Someone's tapping at the garden gate.

It was her signal to Uncle William. She knocked on the big front door.

"Let me in, let me in, Uncle William! I haven't any free hands."

HER uncle's slow foot and tapping crutch trod down the uneven hall and a gaslight awakened. She ran through the opened door, laughed, blamed him above her bright-colored head.

"Oh, I'm late," she said, "but you dream with. Iris thought as she swung along in the dusk with her armful of "golden rain."

She began to daydream again; perhaps somebody would be at Kay's when she sang her old-fashioned songs that people laughed over so;

perhaps she'd get a paying engagement at some house in Philadelphia.

Perhaps it would end with her doing it regularly, earning money enough to buy herself and her uncle all the things she wanted. . . .

She began to sing as she came up the neglected old drive, under the old-fashioned portico. She had lingered so long that a half hour had passed; it was quite dark. She was singing one of the songs she would do at Kay's. It was a song of an older day, a funny old thing of the seventies that had been a show-

Home Institute ETIQUETTE SAVES DAY

LEARN TO BE GRACIOUS ABOUT ERRORS

How awkward we feel when an ungracious maneuver causes us to make some social blunder—such as joggling the elbow of a fellow guest who is balancing a teaspoon!

We've all done such things—tipped over the rug or upset a water-glass or spilled an ash-tray. So we know just how the young man in the picture is feeling. Not to mention the girl.

Watch yourself, too! Awkward Eddie is a trial, to be sure, but he's a really good fellow when it comes to seeking a wallflower home or getting a game started.

Anyway it's the courteous thing not to notice small blunders. "Smile if it kills you" is the staple advice of the experienced woman to the young girl, and you don't ought to let Eddie feel that it's nothing at all. Be as smooth yourself as you wish Eddie were.

Social adroitness is the result of minding the little things, knowing how to enter and leave a room properly, how to introduce people correctly, how to meet strangers, to put in the right word at the right time.

Failing to write a bread-and-butter letter after a week-end party; mistakes in writing invitations; bewilderment at the sight of a salad fork, an oyster fork, or a dessert-spoon, crude habits of speech such as saying "that party" for "that person," "hired help" for "servants," "brandy" for "intelligent," or stuffy habits such as saying "retire," "converse," "purchase," instead of "go to bed," "talk," "buy"—these are all small slips.

But they mark you as a person of meager charm, of limited or careless training. It is so easy, so comforting, to know the right thing.

Children Safer In Vivid Colors

Clothes More Easily Seen from a Distance

Ithaca, N. Y., March 9.—"Children should be seen and not hurt," says one widely used slogan.

To this end, "let the children wear vivid colors: scarlets, bright blues, grass green, orange or yellow. If it's out of the question to supply a new coat, a bright scarf or cap will help," says the United States Department of Agriculture.

"The greatest safety measure is habitual watchfulness and probably the next, with children at least, is conspicuous clothing. Protect the younger children by dressing them with brightly-colored outer garments so they can be seen readily from a distance.

"A brightly-colored coat is far better than drab brown, dark blue, forest green, dull maroon, or gray colors that blend with the roadside so that late in the day the small wearer is almost unnoticed."

The country child or one living in a small town should be safer from traffic dangers than the city child. That is probably true, says the department, but the accident record is proof enough that, wherever they are, children need the advantage of all protection experience has provided. Children and grown-ups have to use the roads as walks, and youngsters with bicycles and roller skates find almost no other place to go. Dusk is an added hazard.

"Children like gay colors: Toddlers choose them by preference. Those a little older are covered to some extent by what others wear, so it may be necessary for mothers to get together and create a vague for strong colors."

The $4,000,000 Red Bluff dam at Pecos, Texas, is scheduled for completion September 1.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Gray leads spring's suit parade.

Liana Murwin

Never has a spring style season shown greater favor for gray as a suit color. On all sides one sees new suits of mannish expression in gray men's wear suitings, in gray nubby woolens and gray corded fabrics. Gray with a touch of bright color is the favorite theme—the bright hue appearing in a scarf, blouse or gilet for contrast with the suit color.

Hat trimmings too, show a definite consideration of gray as a suit color, by using shades that will harmonize smartly. Purple and violet lavender tones are much featured, as well as rose tints, bright reds, turquoise blue and lively greens.

The two-piece double-breasted suit sketched above uses a gray corded woolen. It displays the latest broad-shoulder styling with sleeves that are full and wide at the top, with fore-arms fitted. The jacket waistline is snug for a slim, fitted effect, too, and it has a novel buttoniere of lace on its left lapel. The skirt is plainly tailored with hem slashes at the side for walking comfort.

The hat of black baku straw, shown in the sketch, is moulded to the head and its shaped brim rolls up at front and sides. For trimming, it uses violet and lavender grosgrain ribbon and a nosegay of flowers at the left side.

Broadway: "Follow The Fleet." The most justly famous dancing team in the world contributes another dazzling triumph in this latest comedy-musical that offers Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in a production that measures up in every way to the tradition set by "Gay Divorce" and "Top Hat." Never has the Astaire-Rogers dancing duo performed more gracefully or brilliantly, and coupled with their talented endeavors are songs by Irving Berlin, stunning scenic effects and smooth direction. The show centers around the life of a sailor and some of the sea scenes are stand-out parts of the show. The whole picture is a perfect blend of dancing, comedy, romance and song, a four star attraction that is certain to entertain the most exacting film goer. Of immense help to the show is Harriet Hilliard, radio songstress who makes her talkie debut in this picture. Also in the large cast are such featured performers as Randolph Scott and Astrid Allwyn.

Kingston: "The Prisoner of Shark Island." Dipping into the pages of America's hectic days following the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, this unusual picture tells of Booth, the assassin, who flees from his crime to a country doctor who sets his broken leg. The doctor is completely innocent of any part in the murder, but a frenzied country points the finger of guilt upon him and an innocent man is shipped off to the almost certain death at the Federal prison on what was known as Shark Island. Here, beaten and tortured, he attempts escape and tries to prove his innocence but his chances dwindle with each day. When a yellow fever epidemic sweeps the island, he finally proves his worth and through his work among the suffering men he wins recognition from a government that swept him into tragedy in a moment of bewilderment. Warner Baxter plays the starring role and he is supported by Gloria Stuart, Arthur Byron, O. P. Heggie, Francis MacDonald and Claude Gillingwater. The play was adapted from the historical account of Nunnally Johnson and John Ford directed the production.

Orpheum: "Remember Last Night." A Universal picture depicting a wild party, hangovers, four murders and a suicide. It has a magnificent cast: Edward Arnold, Constance Cummings, Sally Eilers, Robert Young, Robert Armstrong and Reginald Denny.

Broadway: Same.

Kingston: "Last of the Pagans" and "Soak the Rich." The first cinema is an M-G-M. feature relating a mighty Polynesian hunter's fight for love. Authentic South Sea settings, with Mala and Lotus "Soak the Rich" is a comedy played by a cast featuring Mary Taylor and Walter Connolly.

FANCY LETTERING MAKES TOMBSTONE UNREADABLE

Norfolk, Va. (AP)—A stonecutter's fancy lettering has condemned to anonymity a man buried in St. Paul's churchyard here.

The stonecutter carved clear and straight until he began cutting the name on the tombstone.

Then he went off into fits and starts with the result that the identity of the deceased is indistinguishable.

Shantytown, S. C. (AP)—When John T. Warrick went to the store to buy a few more chickens, he found a line of people waiting outside. He went in and found the chickens and found one was snuggled in one of his holes.

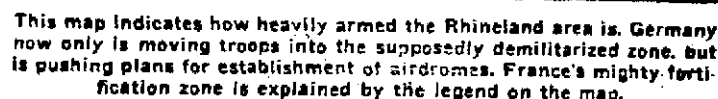

When Jim Simpson, of Ottawah, Tenn., lost his job in 1931, he converted his garage into a breadbox. His barn into a chicken house, and when he made a living from the sale of chickens and eggs.

These photos show France's newest type of war equipment on the German front which were ordered manned by full wartime forces as a result of Hitler's bold move into the Rhine area. Top (left to right): a camouflaged field gun, fast tank, and a huge railway gun. Bottom: sailors aboard a warship (many sea fighters were ordered to the North Sea); an anti-aircraft gun, and a big tank which mounts anti-aircraft armament. (Associated Press Photos)

ITALIANS MEASURE TIDAL UNDULATIONS IN EARTH'S CRUST

A black and white photograph showing a large crowd of people gathered in front of a classical building with columns, likely the Reichstag in Berlin during the 1930s. The image is grainy and high-contrast, with the crowd appearing as a dense mass of dark and light shapes in the foreground. The building behind them features a prominent portico with several tall columns. To the left, another building is partially visible. The overall scene suggests a significant public event or rally.

FRANCE CASTS ANXIOUS EYES TOWARDS THE RHINE AND

Shocked by Germany's action in sending troops into the Rhineland for the first time since the Versailles treaty became effective, France announced it would protest to the League of Nations. At the same time an ultimatum to the French army was cancelled. This picture shows French troops marching out of Mainz where an ultimatum was executed. (Associated Press Photo.)

500 Men Sought Job Tearing Down Former U. & D. Railroad Shops

This morning fully 500 men, all anxious to work, applied on the job at the former Ulster & Delaware railroad shops on the Strand, seeking work in demolishing the buildings. Rosman & Miley, general contractors of Middletown, have the job of demolishing the shops and will sell the materials saved from the buildings.

So great was the number of men seeking work that the firm told the men to report to the NRS in the city hall and register for work and that the men to be engaged would be selected by the NRS.

About half a dozen men were employed this morning and placed at work. As fast as other men are needed Rosman & Miles plan to notify the NRS asking for the men needed.

to tear down every building including the old round house, the modern machine shop in the rear of the round house and the old passenger station. After the buildings are taken down they will clear up the grounds.

To Catskill and Back In Five Hours by Wheel

The days of the "century" run and the time when the bicycle held the limelight were recalled during a conversation at the C. & S. restaurant on The Strand the other noon when someone stated that a Kingston Point man had won a bet by shoving a bicycle from the Point to Catskill and back.

The cyclist was said to be Charles Alecca of Beach street, who according to the story, rode his wheel to the court house in Catskill and back to the Point in five hours. It was added, also that he rode the entire distance, going and returning.

While Charles didn't break any records in covering the distance, which is somewhere around 50 miles, those who haven't been "pumping" a bicycle much if any in recent years, would probably find that they had
